Players Change

Scene of Action

The next program of the Carmel Players on Friday, April 8, will be presented at Manzanita Theatre in the hope that the audience can be better accommodated there than at Arts and Crafts Hall. The change will make it possible to reserve seats. All seats will be reserved and the arrangements are such that the hall will only be filled to a comfortable capacity.

All seats will be the same price, and will go on sale tomorrow afternoon—the best will go to the earliest buyers. Special attention is called to the allotment by rows which is as follows:

On sale at the Pine Cone office: Rows A, D, G, K, N, Q. At Hand's: Rows B, E, H, L, O, R. At the Bakery: Rows C, F, J, M, P, S.

The approaching evening of plays will be under the general supervision of Ernest Schweninger. On the program are Barrie's "Twelve Pound Look," a strong dramatic playlet of the coal fields under the title of "The Bully," and a satirical glimpse of Greek history called "Helena's Husband."

The casts include many players who have not previously appeared in the winter season. Among them are Helen Wilson, Alice MacGowan, Helen Van Riper, Edith Tunison, Argyle Campbell, Theodore Criley, and Talbert Josselyn. Others who will play are Effie MacLean, Marian Boke, Theodore S. Solomons, and Winsor Josselyn.

The direction of the plays will be by Katharine Cooke, T. M. Criley, and Charles K. Van Riper.

An added feature, in prospect, for this program is Frances and Willette Brown in a repetition of their dancing act given with the last bill at Arts and Crafts Hall. It is believed that the Manzanita Theatre will afford spectators a better opportunity of enjoying their specialty. A somewhat different arrangement of dances will be offered.

Forest Theatre

Summer Plays

While no official announcement has been made, it is said that the play committee of the Forest Theatre has invited Mary Austin, who is now in New York, to produce this year's two July plays in our open air theatre.

It is understood that one of the plays to be presented is from the pen of Mary Austin herself, and that the other, a children's play, is by a well-known young lady resident.

The committee is in receipt of copies of various original plays from well-known local and Eastern writers, and it is probable that one of these will be selected for production in August.

Carmel Play Readers

Last Wednesday evening, March 24, the Carmel Play Readers gathered at the fireside of Mrs. A. E. Kluegel, President of The Forest Theatre, Drinkwater's classic drama, "Abraham Lincoln," was charmingly read by Mrs. Madge Maurer of Carmel Highlands.

The next reading will take place at the home of Mrs. L. C. Hayward.

Pine Needles

Mrs. John J. Cuddy, manager of the Children's Theatre in San Francisco, was the week-end guest of Ann Dare.

Harry J. Coleman took a week-end trip to San Francisco to attend to business matters of the Pine Cone Press.

Rev. James Argo of London is visiting his daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Argo, at the Humming Bird cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Bechdolt have returned from San Francisco and are occupying their home for a few weeks at least.

The E. T. Ezekials have purchased the Saxe cottage and will make of it a week-end haven. They are from Mill Valley.

Now that the Lenten season is over, the Manzanita Club will probably make definite arrangements for the annual masque ball.

Harvey A. Russell and family were here from Los Angeles for a few days this week. They expect to be here for a longer stay about May 1.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Watson of Alameda spent their honeymoon at Highlands Inn last week. Mrs. Watson was formerly Miss Edith Adams of Alameda.

Mrs. Ethel Worthington is spending a week in Carmel. Mr. Worthington is still in England, but leaves shortly for the United States and California.

Mrs. W. T. Beatty and niece, Miss Louise Husted, will leave for their home in Flossmoor, Illinois, on April 3. They will return to their Pebble Beach home during the summer.

The San Francisco Seals have finished their spring training in Monterey and have returned to their native haunts around the bay to begin the long grind to grab off the 1921 Coast League pennant.

There will no doubt be a large attendance at the regular meeting of the City Trustees next Tuesday evening. It is expected there will be much discussion anent the proposed Ocean avenue improvement.

Quite a few Palo Alto families took advantage of the Easter vacation to spend a few days in Carmel. Among them being Professor and Mrs. E. C. Starks, Dr. Frances T. Russell, Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Place, Professor and Mrs. H. W. Stuart and family.

Mrs. Frank Crumb, sister of Delos Curtis, is visiting here. Mr. Crumb is an official of Alameda county.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith were Sunday visitors in Carmel. Mr. Smith is the editor and publisher of the Pacific Grove Review.

Carmel Postoffice was a scene of gay color last Sunday noon. The mid day mail distribution placed on view many new "Kellys"—and some talkative neckwear.

There was a light vote at last Friday's election for school trustee. Rev. F. G. Williams, pastor of All Saints, was elected, and will assume his new duties on May 1.

The Carmel School of Classic Dancing is closed for the season. Announcement is made that the second season will open on January 15, 1922, and continue until March 30.

Miss Vivian Blanchard, daughter of Attorney Hiram Blanchard, is here from San Jose, the guest of Mrs. Grace Ryder. Miss Blanchard motored down with Miss Saline Delmas.

Dr. and Mrs. McChesney, with a party of congenial friends motored down from San Francisco for the week-end. Golf at Pebble Beach and Del Monte formed the chief attraction.

Several meetings of those interested, pro and con, in the proposed Ocean avenue improvement have been held during the past two weeks. It is said that both the pros and cons have employed counsel.

The Chris Jorgensens, one time owners of what is now La Playa Hotel, have purchased the home of Mrs. Fore in Piedmont. The house adjoins a lot which they already own and which they are planning to make into a beautiful garden.

Thomas Vincent Cator motored up to San Jose Tuesday. He will return here today and before night will depart for Los Angeles, to be away until August 1. Vasia Anikeeff and Herbert Herron will accompany him south, the latter to be gone four or five days.

Mrs. Mary E. Milwain, a pioneer resident of Oakland, died at her home last week. Mrs. Milwain was the widow of the late Alexander Milwain, who established his home in Oakland nearly forty years ago. She was the mother of Ruth Milwain, Alexander Milwain and William Milwain, architect. The family own a cottage here.

Fresh-Air Fans

Find Diversion

There were two baseball games, both at the same time, at Wilson Point last Sunday afternoon, and a large crowd witnessed both contests.

A regulation nine-inning game was played by two teams selected from the local fire department, in which the Regulars defeated the Yarnigans 18 to 10.

The other game between the Poppies and the Lupins, in which the fair sex took part, was won by the Lupins.

During the big league game, Bob Leidig made a talk to the spectators, asking for funds to purchase playing paraphernalia for the boys who fight our fires, and as a result $8.60 was gathered in.

A Musical Treat

An especially interesting program was that selected by the "Del Monte Trio" for their Easter Sunday concert at Arts and Crafts Hall.

The cello solos played by Frederick Preston Search showed to his enthusiastic admirers the always increasing perfection of his art, which is so apparent to lovers of the best in music.

Maurice LePlat's violin solo, "Die Meistersinger," received much applause, as did Mrs. Warren D. Allen's contralto solos.

The hall was comfortably filled by an appreciate audience, which departed with hearty congratulations to itself for the pleasure received during the entire concert.

An Easter Event

At the Children's Home of Truth, in Carmel, Easter Sunday services were held. Carols, directed by Henry Cowell, were sung; an appropriate playlet by the children of the school was a joyful event, led by Mrs. Willner.

Miss Blanche Ayles introduced Mrs. Ida Mansfield Wilson to the school and guests in her accustomed pleasing manner. Mrs. Wilson's address was most interesting to children and "grown ups."

By request Mr. Cowell played several of his fine compositions, after which the liberty of the home was granted to all and an Easter egg hunt was the occasion for much joy for the children.

Mother Carrington was especial "guest of honor."

The Carmel Players offer sincere apologies to those who were inconvenienced by the confusion at the recent evening of plays. A change to the Manzanita Theatre for the next program is expected to solve the problem. All seats will be reserved, every ticket calling for a particular seat. The advance sale will be begun early and none but ticket-holders will be admitted to the theatre.

C Blythe Sherwood, whose critical reviews and bright interviews sparkle like diamonds on the pages of amusements publications, is a poetess of high rank, and frequently is invited to pass critical judgment upon the work of some aspiring Pegasus.

Marguerita Sylva, the operatic prima donna, has become an emotional dramatic actress. The play is "The Song Bird," and Madame Sylva enacts the role of a famous singer who refuses to become old. The play is an amusing comedy of temperament, and Madame Sylva has high hopes of its great success in New York.

Among new books on the drama recently announced, are as follows:

"The Shepherd in the Distance," by Holland Hudson.

"Collected Plays," by Stephen Phillips.

"The British and American Drama of Today," by Barrett H. Clark.

And now comes the Players Theatre in San Francisco with a presentation of three one-act plays beginning this week. Charles Caldwell Dobie's "The Hidden Pool," a play with a Chinese theme; Dunsany's "Night at an Inn," and that amusing little farce by Susan Glaspell "Suppressed Desires," which was played here very recently.

The original cast of "Foolish Wives," as acted at Point Carmel last fall, has been again depleted by death. Miss George, known to Carmelenos as the leading lady, and who was accompanied by Russian wolfhounds in her part, died of pneumonia recently. Von Stroheim's masterpiece is yet in the store house.

Walt Whitman was a dramatic critic and it is interesting to note the following, as being no great exaggeration of dramatic criticism as it is written today:

"Most of the 'criticisms' in the metropolitan press are written before the plays are played—and paid for by the theatre, or other parties. Of those which are not so paid for, the majority are the fruits of solicitation, or favoritism. In the midst of all that stale and unwholesome utterance, the speaking of a paragraph of unbiased truth, falls like an alarming and terrible thing! It would be a curious result—and a profitable one—to take a while to the theatre, some man, highly educated and knowing the world in other things—but totally fresh to the stage—and let him give his real opinions of the queer doings he would see there."

And again he says: "The drama of this country can be the mouthpiece of freedom, refinement, liberal philanthropy, beautiful love for all our brethren, polished manners and elevated good taste. It could wield potent way to destroy any attempt at despotism, it can attack and hold up to scorn bigotry, fashionable affectation, avarice and all unmanly follies. Youth may be warned by its fictitious portraits of the evil of unbridled passions—in order to reap such by no means difficult results, the whole method of theatricals as at present pursued in New York, needs first to be overthrown."

Among recent interesting guests at Pine Inn was Alfred Herter, who has returned to Santa Barbara. A short time ago he presented a very elaborate production of "Pellias and Melisande." The original costumes and stage settings were designed by Mr. Herter, who further aided the production by playing the part of the King. Favorable state-wide comment has been heard of this presentation.

MUSIC MATTERS

Under the direction of Paul Steindorff, Henry Hadley's memorial cantata "The New Earth" had its first production on the Pacific Coast, at the Greek Theatre in Berkeley last Friday afternoon, in conjunction with the eleventh annual offering of Rossini's "Stabat Mater."
 The work is a tribute to those whose lives were sacrificed in the recent war, and is of especial interest to Californians, because the composer is so well-known here.

A Conservatory of Music and Art, with Mme. Jeanne Jonelli as director, is to be opened in San Francisco, at the Hotel Richelieu.
 The general principles of the school will be based upon those of the Paris Conservatory with which Mme. Jonelli was formerly connected. The courses taught will include elementary, intermediate and advanced classes in French, Italian and Spanish, story writing, public speaking, dramatic art and various elementary musical studies as well as individual instruction in singing, piano, violin and cello playing.

The Wonders of America
 By T. T. MAXEY

THE CROOKEDEST RAILROAD IN THE WORLD.

THE Mount Tamalpais and Muir Woods railway runs from Mill Valley, California, to the top of Mount Tamalpais—the guardian of our famous Golden Gate, the entrance to San Francisco bay. This miniature railway is but 20 miles long. The longest piece of straight track is 413 feet. It contains 281 curves. In one place the track parallels itself five times in a little more than 300 feet—forming an almost perfect double bow-knot. So crooked is this line that if all the curves were continuous, they would make 42 complete circles. It is one of the most wonderful pieces of engineering on the American continent.

The curious looking, oil-burning locomotive squirms its way tall first, pushing the train up the tortuous track, on a grade averaging six feet to the hundred, to the summit, 2,502 feet above the valley below.
 The reason for it all is, of course, the view from the top of this peak which stands on the very edge of the U. S. A. Here, the eye, in one far-reaching sweep, commands a panorama of mountains, forest, bay, island, city and sea, lying between the Sierra mountains and the Pacific ocean which, 'tis said, is not surpassed from the summit of any other mountain peak in the world.

Worth mentioning in passing, too, is the fact that the government recording station here, shows more sunshine per day than any other recording station in this country.
 The return trip is made by gravity—the train coasting all the way down.

Carmel is to have a violin school. Frederick MacMurray, recently of New York, has located here and will make Carmel his permanent home, so that pupils and advanced players may study with him here.
 In addition to his teaching, Mr. MacMurray will do concert work on the coast, and is also completing a treatise on his system of "Sustained Triple-Stopping for the Violin," on the regular rounded bridge, which he will publish in the near future.

Junior Boys' Club Have a Frolic

The Junior Boys' Club enjoyed a glorious time on Saturday afternoon last, when Mrs. Bernice Warren most kindly entertained them on her grounds with an egg hunt, Eugene Roehling carrying off the prize for finding the most eggs.
 Generous helpings of ice cream and cake and candy followed, and the afternoon ended by a romp on the sand dunes.
 The club yell tested the lung force of the members, and it was found not wanting.
 The boys are working on their acrostic, with Carmel Boys' Club, for the initials, to show what they think their club ought to stand for.
 If any one has two or three wooden chairs—not folding—which they can spare, they can be put to good use on club nights.
 There will be no meetings of the club's next week.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

WHY QUIBBLE?

Anent improving Ocean avenue, it may truthfully be said that the matter of its cost, the method of assessments to pay for it, as well as the awarding of the contract for the work, can safely be entrusted to the City Trustees.

The gentlemen who compose this board were elected to membership therein by the people of Carmel. They have proceeded in this, as in other civic matters, with no motive ulterior to the welfare of Carmel and in response to public demand.

To quibble now and search for a limb to hang a protest on, on the eve of the consummation of a project so manifestly advantageous to public welfare, is to betray a confidence freely granted, or to gratify a spirit of habitual protest, without regard to obvious facts.

Our city trustees are worthy of and will receive whole-hearted support in their unselfish efforts to effect the much-needed improvement of Carmel's principal thoroughfare.

With the passing of James Cardinal Gibbons in Baltimore last week humanity has lost a great mind. Cardinal Gibbons possessed a splendidly balanced mentality which he always exerted for the good of all without especial regard to creed or station—an extraordinary vision into human events which placed him as one of the world's leaders. All peoples will profit by his works and words.

If you have occasion to park your car in Monterey, take care that you are inside the chalk mark. The traffic "cop" has an eagle eye and a keen desire to reduce your bank-roll before the merchant gets you. This caution is especially addressed to non-residents of Monterey and is uttered because of the many indignant protests heard in Carmel against a too strict enforcement of our sister city's parking ordinance.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE
I—DELAWARE

TO DELETE falls the honor of being the first of the original thirteen states.

December 7, 1787, it officially adopted the Constitution and thus was made a beginning of our present Federal government. According to the seventh article of the Constitution, however, it was necessary for nine states to ratify it before it actually came into force. So it was not until the following June, by which time eight other states had accepted the Constitution, that the United States of America actually came into being.

The early history of Delaware was a varied one. It started in 1638 when a small party of Swedes settled at the mouth of the Delaware river and called it New Sweden. In 1655, Peter Stuyvesant, the governor of the Dutch colony of New Netherlands, annexed this territory. But it did not long remain Dutch, for in 1684 the English took possession. When Pennsylvania was deeded to William Penn he desired access to the seacoast and at his urgent request Delaware was transferred to Penn's proprietorship. From the beginning of the eighteenth century, however, Delaware had its separate legislature, and at the time of the Revolution it became an independent state.

Delaware is next to the smallest of our states, having an area of only 2,370 square miles. Its participation in presidential elections is limited to three electors. This is arranged according to population. Each state is entitled to the same number of presidential electors as it has members of congress, so the influence of the different states in voting for the President varies from Delaware's three electors to New York's 45.

As to the derivation of the name Delaware, this was appropriately given to the state from the river, which in turn was named after the bay and the bay was called Delaware in honor of Lord Delaware, who was governor of the Virginia colony in 1610.

BOOKS AND AUTHORS

"Authors and I"—C. Lewis Hind.—C. Lewis Hind was editor of the London Academy for many years and as such, has come into personal contact with most of the leading figures in modern English Literature. Out of his memories of these authors and their work he wrote a series of weekly articles for the "The Christian Science Monitor." The collection of these articles is contained in this present volume. Mr. Hind has contrived to mention almost every important English writer and a few Americans; among others are J. M. Barrie, Chesterton, Conrad, Galsworthy, Hardy, Kipling, Meredith and Stevenson. The Americans mentioned are Henry Adams, Richard Harding Davis, Sherwood Anderson, Howells, Edith Wharton, O. Henry, Whitman, Stephen Crane and Bret Harte, and the few others mentioned are D'Annunzio, Maeterlinck and Tolstoi.

Mr. Hind chats easily about these authors and their books, as if he were talking to a friend by the fireside. At the right moment he introduces an appropriate anecdote and as he has omitted very few prominent names, his book will be welcomed as a useful and entertaining source of biographical gossip.

"The Behavior of Crowds," by Everett Dean Martin—A psychological study of the laws covering the actions of people who yield their individual initiative of thought to a given idea, whether it be religious, political, ethical or merely expressed through certain physical reactions. Thinking people have watched, during the past years, the successive waves of crowd-thought that have been sweeping the world, arising, apparently much like the winds of heaven out of the void and driving all before them. Dr. Martin approaches the subject from the angle of Freud and the suppression of desires in the subconscious; defining a crowd-thought as a certain mental condition which may occur to people in any gathering or association. This is not a "collective" mind. It is a release of repressed impulses which is made possible because certain controlling ideas have ceased to function in the immediate social environment. Individuals move together like automatons. It also follows that crowd-spirit will occur most commonly in reference to just those social forms where repression is greatest—in matters political, religious and moral.

"The Mirrors of Downing St.," By a Gentleman with a Duster—This book is an echo, a dying note, in fact, of the late war and the men who were prominently connected with it. It has succeeded in being one of the sensations of the London season and has run into several editions. The author claims to be "inspired by a pure purpose and cleans with a good honest duster the mirrors in which such people as Mr. Lloyd-George, Mr. Asquith, Lord Haldane, Lord Kitchener and others, "see ourself as others see us." He has interesting things to say of the Prime Minister. There is a tribute of eloquence in the account of his moving appeal to a private conference of hard-headed munition makers to pool the trade secrets upon which their prosperity depended. Clemenceau is credited with having said, "I have never met so ignorant a man as Lloyd-George"; another says, "I believe that Mr. Lloyd-George can read, but I am perfectly certain he never does." That Mr. Lloyd-George's position today is the confusion of prominence with enaïnce is the opinion of the Gentlemen, also. For Lord Fisher, "this pirate of public life," he has genuine admiration. Kitchener, he holds, was raised above the third-rate by devotion to duty. A selfish, sulky man, lacking every grace of character and troubled by his inability to be the Kitchener of public imagination. "He had the happiness of several friendships with cultured, good women, but the beautiful creature whom he loved devotedly could never bring herself to marry him." Of Churchill, the Gentleman says, "He has disappointed his admirers on several occasions, but has not yet exhausted their patience or destroyed their hopes. A brilliant mind, yet lacking in strength of character." "The truth about Arthur Balfour," he quotes a friend as saying, is this; "he knows there has been one ice age and he thinks there is going to be another." Mr. Balfour is a most egotistical man, a very close-fisted man, and would make any sacrifice to stay in office. And so on goes this anonymous "Gentleman with a Duster."

Daniel Corkery, whose name as author of "Munster Twilight" and "Threshold of Quiet," was introduced into this country a short time ago, is one of the interesting young Anglo-Irish writers and had made a name in Ireland as a dramatist long before the publication of these two books brought him to the notice of a wider public. Recently his dramatic writings have been issued in two volumes, "The Yellow Bittern," "Clan Falvey," "King and Hermit" and "The Labor Leader," a longer modern play in three acts. The one-act plays belong to the Ireland of tradition and legend and can best be described by saying that they have analogies with such pieces as Yeats' "Kathleen ni Houlihan." Their beauty and effectiveness lie in the predominantly lyrical quality of Corkery's dramatic imagination. A skilled technician, he has employed his technique to experiment with themes which seem to defy the resources of stage craft—the death of the outcast poet, Cahal Buidhe, in "The Yellow Bittern," the old Chief of the Falvey Clan, with his visions of greatness in a sordid cabin. They seem more fitting for poetry but the dramatist has infused them with life and beauty and he knows so well how to communicate the atmosphere that the reader is captured by a subtle combination of poetic charm and naturalness. "The Yellow Bittern" in particular is a play whose mood of mystic tenderness haunts the memory.

ART NOTES

Mrs. J. V. Cannon, of the Carmel summer art colony, has just closed an exhibition of Pacific Coast marines and landscapes at the Oakland Municipal Auditorium.

Word comes from the East, that Myron A. Oliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Oliver of Monterey, has had two of his pictures hung in the National Academy of New York City. One is a painting of the Carmel Mission—the other painted in Gloucester, Mass., last summer, has been invited to the Annual Exhibition of Selected Paintings by American Artists held at the Detroit Institute of Art, through May—the exhibition then going as a whole to the Toledo Museum lasting until August 31. Mr. Oliver is now preparing for an extended stay in Europe, where he will continue his studies.

NOTICE

—OF—

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT

Local Improvement District No. 1

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of The City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, County of Monterey, State of California, did on Monday, the 14th day of March, 1921, adopt a resolution adopting and approving the report heretofore called for and filed with the City Clerk of said city by Henry B. Fisher, a Civil Engineer, employed for that purpose, which report contains his recommendations as to the best method of making the following improvement in said city, to-wit:

(1) That Ocean Avenue, between the West line of Junipero Avenue and the West line of San Antonio Avenue, shall be paved for the full width thereof, exclusive of sidewalks and park spaces; said pavement to consist of six (6) inches, gravel sub-base three (3) inches rock-base, and one and one-half (1½) inches of bituminous concrete wearing surface, and the park spaces along the said part of said Ocean Avenue, shall be graded so as to conform to the cross-sections on file with the City Clerk and attached to said report exhibit 3.

(2) Said Ocean Avenue, from the West line of San Antonio Avenue to Carmel Bay for the full width thereof, exclusive of sidewalk spaces, shall be graded to conform to the cross-sections shown as contained in Exhibit 3, attached to said report, after which it shall have placed and packed thereon nine (9) inches of gravel taken from the Junipero Avenue Quarry, or other gravel, equally as good, and the park spaces along this part of the said Ocean Avenue shall be graded so as to conform to the cross-sections on file with the city clerk.

(3) Along said Ocean Avenue, from Dolores Street to Carmel Bay, there shall be constructed a storm-water sewer consisting of 760 feet of eight (8) inch concrete pipe, 744 feet of ten (10) inch concrete pipe, 740 feet of twelve (12) inch concrete pipe, with the necessary storm water inlets, catch basins, and branch pipe connections, as shown on the plans on file with the City Clerk.

The grading, paving, etc., of the said Ocean Avenue, and the construction of the storm-water sewer, shall all be done in accordance with the plans, profiles, cross-section and specifications on file with the City Clerk, of said city, reference to which is hereby made for a more detailed description of said work to be done.

The following is a description of the exterior boundaries of the district of lands which will be benefited by the proposed improvement the lots and lands within which shall be specially assessed according to benefits, if any, they may receive, to pay the costs and expenses of the improvement:

All that portion of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, County of Monterey, State of California, described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at a point at the Southeast corner of Addition Number Five to the Town of Carmel-by-the-Sea, running thence Westerly along the southern boundary line of said

Addition Number Five to the westerly side of Junipero Avenue; thence westerly along the southerly side of Twelfth Avenue to the easterly side of Mission Street; thence southerly along said easterly side of Mission Street four hundred fifty feet, more or less, to the intersection of the County Road; thence southerly along the easterly side of said County Road to a point intersected by the southerly side of Santa Lucia Avenue, projected; thence westerly along said southerly side of Santa Lucia Avenue to the Pacific Ocean; thence northerly along the line of the shore of said Pacific Ocean to the dividing line between the lands formerly of F. H. Powers and the Pescadero Rancho; thence easterly along the southerly boundary line of the Pescadero Rancho to the westerly side of Lincoln Street; thence northerly along the westerly side of Lincoln Street to the northerly side of First Avenue; thence easterly along said northerly side of First Avenue to the westerly side of Dolores Street; thence northerly along said westerly side of Dolores Street to the northerly side of Vista Avenue; thence easterly along said northerly side of Vista Avenue to the westerly side of San Carlos Street; thence northerly along said westerly side of San Carlos Street to the northerly side of Alto Avenue; side of Alto Avenue to the easterly thence easterly along said northerly side of Junipero Avenue; thence southerly along said easterly side of Junipero Avenue to a point of intersection with the said southerly line of Pescadero Rancho; thence easterly along said southerly line of Pescadero Rancho, about fifty feet more or less to the easterly side of Junipero Avenue; thence southerly along said easterly side of Junipero Avenue to the northerly line of the subdivision of old Carmel City; thence easterly along said northerly line of Carmel City to the easterly line of Carmel City; thence southerly along a portion of the easterly line of old Carmel City and the easterly side of the subdivision of Paradise Park and a portion of the easterly line of the subdivision of Addition Number Five of the Town of Carmel-by-the-Sea to the place of beginning.

That Tuesday, the 5th day of April, 1921, at the hour of 8 o'clock P. M., of said day, at the City Hall in said city, county and state has been fixed as the time and place when and where all property owners or persons interested in any real property within said district may appear before the Board of Trustees of said city, and show cause, if any they have, why said proposed improvement should not be made and the proceedings carried out as provided for in said report and resolution, and why said assessments levied thereby shall not become a lien upon the lots and lands within said above described district as assessed thereon.

All objections must be in writing, must contain a description of property in which the objector is interested, and set forth the nature of his title thereto or interest therein, and must state the objectors grounds of opposition thereto, and must be signed and verified by the objector himself or his attorney in fact, and objections which do not comply with these requirements shall not be considered by the said Board.

Reference is hereby made to said report on file with the City Clerk of said city and to said resolution so passed on March 14th, 1921, for further particulars of their contents.

SAIDEE VAN BROWER,
City Clerk.

Uncle Walt's Story

THE USE OF SICKNESS

"HERE is the most wonderful book ever offered the public," said the agent with enthusiasm. "It is entitled 'Psychology and Disease,' and every page has an astounding revelation. When this book is universally read and understood, there won't be any disease in the world."

"Which is equivalent to saying that when the pigs are flying, a man with the rheumatism will get a job as con-tortionist," said Mrs. Curfew. "I have listened to agents for many years, and have heard all kinds of silly talk, but yours is the worst yet. You can't convince me that the day will ever come when a man with the jumping rheumatism, such as my husband is afflicted with, can sit down and cure himself by reading a book, even if the book is endorsed by congressmen and justices of the peace and other dignitaries without number."

"If disease ever is banished from the world, I have no doubt that something worse will come to take its place. I believe that everything in this world is here for a good purpose, even if it doesn't look that way at first glance."

"Early this spring there was an epidemic of measles in this neighborhood, and of course my little granddaughter had to come to visit me. She never comes when the health conditions are all that could be desired, but just as sure as there is smallpox or seven year itch or some other contagious disease rampant, that angel child comes to spend a few days with her beloved grandmother, and she catches everything there is going."

"She hadn't been here two days before she was down sick. She had more measles than I ever saw in one collection before, and her face was a sight to be seen. I was inclined to murmur and repine, for I was just done with my housecleaning and was so tired I felt as though I'd like to lie down and sleep for six months, and there I was with a sick child in the house, and I was to be up night and day seeing that she didn't catch cold, for if a child catches cold when she has that disease, some of the measles are sure to strike in, and then she goes blind or loses her hearing or becomes an idiot."

"I was complaining to Mr. Curfew, and saying harsh, bitter things when a boy came to the door with a telegram. It was from Cousin Susan, and she said she was coming on the night train with her three children to spend a week with me. She invites herself, that way about once a year, and I always dread her coming, for her children are holy terrors, and there is no peace where they are."

"I never had a good excuse for heading Cousin Susan off before, and she had become a nightmare to me. But on that occasion I had an excuse all ready made. I sent back a telegram saying that my granddaughter was in the house with an aggravated attack of measles, and the house was quarantined, and a policeman with a sawed-off shotgun was guarding the approaches to the house. Of course I didn't use exactly those words, but that was the meaning of my dispatch, and Cousin Susan had to take her offspring and unload them on her Aunt Maria, who had never suffered a vis-

ITEMS OF INTEREST

The Arnot boys were down from Oakland over the week-end to visit their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren D. Allen of Palo Alto were among the out-of-town folks who spent the spring vacation in Carmel.

Mrs. Grant Wallace and her two children are here from southern California for a brief visit. The Wallaces have many local friends.

Probably as a result of his trip to San Francisco, Jack Giffis played a good game of ball last Sunday. He'll get into the big brush yet.

Miss M. J. Wingett, physical culture instructor, well known here, is in San Francisco for a few weeks. Upon her return here she will establish a school of instruction.

The Carmel Audubon Society will hold the postponed meeting at the home of Mrs. C. S. Green, Lincoln street, between Thirteenth avenue and San Lucia, on Friday, April 1.

ITATION OF THAT SORT BEFORE. "This shows that diseases have their use, and even a few measles in the house are a wellspring of pleasure, when we regard them properly, with a determination to realize our blessings. So I have no use for any book that shows how to abolish diseases, and now must disperse, for I have a hundred things to do."

Arabs Suffer From Famine.

"The Drinkers of Sunshine," as the Arab shepherds call themselves, are on the verge of starvation throughout Algeria, and unless wheat is imported from America it may have nothing but sunshine as a steady diet during the winter.

The threatening famine is the result of a year's drought.

Seventy-five per cent of the sheep in Algeria have died as a result of the drought, and the Arab "Drinkers of Sunshine," dreamers and philosophers, incapable of any work but that of guarding their flocks, are in dire straits.

Out of Date Now.

"Did you hear what that young woman said?"

"No. What was it?"

"She told the young fellow with her that she 'just loved to cook.'"

"Ah! An old-fashioned girl. She's using the 'vamping' methods popular twenty years ago."

Dancers Execute Fine Program

The presentation of a program of interpretative and class dancing by the Carmel School of Classical Dancing at the Monterey Theatre on last Saturday evening, was greeted by an appreciative audience, the majority of whom rode over the hill from Carmel.

The stage settings and costuming were in keeping with the recognized standard of excellence established by the school management, the solo dancing the work of artists and the numbers in which the entire cast appeared reflected credit on the producers.

Miss Swett and Miss Perry are receiving much praise for their efforts to arouse local sentiment in favor of their school, to the extent of support, sufficient to warrant its becoming, commencing with their return next December, a permanent and never closing institution of Carmel.

The Pine Cone heartily seconds this effort, Carmel needs such a school, and few are as worthy or well qualified to establish it as are Miss Swett and Miss Perry.

Opinions

"What is your opinion of the tariff?"
